

Manifestation – A Reality Check

By Callie Carling (Moonpoppy)

The Secret ... Cosmic Ordering ... the Law of Attraction ... with so many choices out there, as we follow our quest to seek a life more attuned to what we know in our hearts is right for our souls, it was a potential minefield – as well as a goldmine - for someone who was spiritually-minded and eager to develop to her full potential.

That was me. What I struggled to understand was why could everyone else understand the messages of “The Secret”, except me? Why had I watched (and read) it so many times but it just didn’t seem to stick? How could I miss the point of something that was so darned simple - it was embarrassing! Cosmic Ordering ... I read the books, I placed my cosmic order in many different ways ... hmmm. I subscribed to a multitude of Law of Attraction free e-courses and e-newsletters, which although interesting reading, still didn’t have an impact on the deep, innermost me. Friends and family were achieving great success with these techniques and I was stumbling around in the dark, completely and utterly overwhelmed with data but just no idea on how to make it fit for me.

So was the story of my experiences with the law of attraction until early 2007 when I hit rock-bottom with my health and self-confidence. The outside world believed I was a successful, happy and grounded woman ... and yet I felt so far removed from that image, it was hilarious in a sad, lonely way. Feeling spiritually bereft and desperately wishing to change my life to follow my dreams, I poured over newsletters, journals and advertisements, desperate to find the one thing that would yell “I’m here ... I’m exactly what you’ve been waiting for!”. A chance remark from a friend, a fellow healer who understood completely where I was at, told me of a workshop on Manifestation Acceleration Techniques to be held locally – and it was being held soon. I vaguely listened to her description but was hung on the idea that it was something to do with angels ... and that seemed good enough for me, I needed to work with the angels to bring some peace of mind and solidity into my life. It seemed as if they were indeed already there, ready to set me back on my feet, as a place on this workshop was still available in just two weekends’ time.

Feeling miserable and nervous, with travel issues stacking up against me as well as a relapse of M.E. symptoms, I dragged myself along on the day and went armed with only an open mind and some Bach Rescue Remedy. I had no real knowledge of what the workshop would contain, what would be expected of me or even what I would gain from it – but it was a different experience to be had, and I was on my way there all because my instincts told me I had to go.

Instincts. I mean, what are they? We all have different experiences of instincts and instinctive reactions and therefore have differing definitions. Dictionary definitions included (amongst others) “natural inward impulse; unconscious, involuntary, or unreasoning prompting to any mode of action ... without a distinct apprehension of the end or object to be accomplished” – Websters Dictionary. Or, to quote some wiser men than I ... "An instinct is a propensity prior to experience, and independent of instructions." (Paley); "An instinct is an agent which performs blindly and ignorantly a work of intelligence and knowledge." (Sir W. Hamilton)

Armed with bucket-loads of ignorance and hopefully a smidge of intelligence and knowledge, I knocked on the door to find it was being hosted at the home of one of the workshop participants. A wonderfully warm and inviting home, filled with beautiful warm energy and angels (angel cards, angel statues ... and much more), and I immediately remembered where I'd met the host previously, which made me feel more comfortable at “gatecrashing” a workshop for her and her friends.

With just four participants, the Manifestation Acceleration Techniques workshop was going to be a real learning curve, designed to challenge us all. Including the teacher! Every group of participants brings a different energy into the experience and results are different each and every time, the same as with any course or workshop.

Finally I discovered why I had been guided here ... the Archangel Michael had brought a powerful form of manifestation forward, claiming that with proper use of the technique it will (and can) change Planet Earth in a positive, loving way. Quick to use, easy to learn and effective, this method of manifestation tended to offer those who used the techniques daily an experience of profound and rapid rate of manifestation in their lives, as well as develop their soul rotation process. After a day of intense concentration sprinkled with lots of panting and drawing, laughter and introspection, I left the workshop feeling quietly optimistic and much lighter in both mind and body. Surely the breathing exercises alone would help to energise my depleted body with oxygen, so there was a definite feeling of “nothing ventured, nothing gained” as I came home and dwelt on my day’s learning experiences.

Not long after attending the workshop, I noticed that life was starting to change in rather mysterious and strange ways. Only small things, nothing of any particular note and certainly nothing earth-shattering. But there was a definite surge in positive energies surrounding me and my family, my friends and business colleagues.

One such mysterious and interesting twist of fate saw me viewing a house which we had no intention of buying – I was to view the property merely as an exercise to see what was available in that price bracket locally, and whether it was cost-effective to do some planned extension works on our home. As I stepped into the foyer of this particular house, I knew immediately that it was ours ... and when I rang my partner, he was horrified. No, we weren’t buying another house! Still, curiosity got the better of him and off he went the next day to discover exactly what had sent me into a tailspin. Before we knew it, our sealed bid was handed in. Sadly our sealed bid wasn’t accepted but I knew – just knew! – that the house was ours and knew with utmost certainty that we would live there some day. I refused to adopt a negative thought-pattern on this unfavourable turn of events and remained remarkably upbeat, while my partner was truly upset by the loss of the opportunity to buy our dream home.

Using my M.A. techniques almost unconsciously now, I carried on with my busy schedule and trying to balance a multitude of tasks and wishing, hoping and praying fervently that one day I would be able to concentrate solely on running my own business. It was soul-destroying, commuting into work each day and doing something which I knew was so wrong for me.

Then out of the blue, with timing as bad as it ever could have been, we received a telephone call from the estate agents. The house was coming back on the market, were we still interested? Oh yes! BUT ... so many buts, as there always are at times like this ... and somehow we miraculously managed to pull all the strings together and now I sit typing this in our beautiful new family home, just 12 weeks after we received our second chance. And I thank the angels, especially Archangel Michael, every single day – consciously and unconsciously – for manifesting our dreams and making it a reality. For not only did we move into our dream home, but I also took the step out of corporate life and can now concentrate on developing my own successful business full-time to even greater heights.

So it really is just a case of having faith and finding what works for you ... “Each to their own” as my Granna used to say. Remain aware that everything happens for a reason and be thankful every step of the way, even if things don’t go the way we would like. Without being guided to the Manifestation Acceleration Techniques workshop I know, deep in my soul, that I would not be living in my beautiful new home nor be living my dream at such an early stage. I remain forever grateful that I put my thoughts out there, into the Universe, and that they were manifested in such perfect accord by utilising the Manifestation Acceleration Techniques.

Wishing you love and blessings on your personal pathway to peacefulness & bliss,

In love and light,

Moonpoppy
